

No visit to Tanzania is complete without an overnight stay at Maasai Boma Camp where you will be immersed in a truly unique and authentic Maasai cultural experience. This opportunity to witness and participate in the daily activities of the Maasai is rare and powerful, and will leave you in awe of how Maasai customs and traditions have remained unchanged over the years, despite rapid changes in the world around them.

Situated in the beautiful wildlife corridor between Tarangire and Lake Manyara National Parks, your overnight cultural experience at Maasai Boma Camp is easily incorporated into any safari itinerary, and is a value-added opportunity that will enrich your time in Tanzania and indeed, your life!

Upon arrival at Maasai Boma Camp you will enjoy a welcome dance and greeting ceremony with the villagers, including Elders and Warriors. You will be gifted with a Maasai shuka – the traditional dress of the Maasai people.

You will be invited to visit into a Maasai hut where you'll be introduced to the work of Maasai women, and life of the children.

Following this visit, you will be met by herds of sheep and cattle returning home from grazing. Join with Maasai women and try your hand at milking the animals.

Enjoy a delicious meal prepared by your professional chef. Following dinner, you will sit around a bon fire under the stars while you learn about Maasai life and culture. This is a time for storytelling and sharing.

Continue your evening with singing and dancing with the Maasai who welcome you to participate. Proceed to your comfortable tented accommodations where you will fall asleep on a comfortable cot while listening to the evocative sounds of the African night all around.

After a very early breakfast, and following the sunrise over Maasailand, you will have a spear throwing lesson with Maasai Warriors. Your guide will then take you on a nature walk and teach you the essentials of survival in the bush; you will be introduced to the sounds, sights and smells of the bush – each plant, bird, insect and footprint has a story to tell. You will feel a closeness to the land that no tourist in a vehicle will ever know or understand.

Following your nature walk, you will return to the boma where you will say your farewells and depart on the next leg of your safari.

Your overnight at Maasai Boma Camp will be a life changing experience and a highlight of your time in Tanzania. We look forward to welcoming you to Maasai Boma Camp!
